FIGHTING IN NORTHERN FRANCE AND BELGIUM REPORTED AT STANDSTILL.

CONTINUOUS FIGHTING

Russians Reported Being Prepared to Make New Drive in German Poland Soon.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

London, April 30.—The east coast of England again has been subjected to an aerial attack, accompanied by the usual infliction of material damage but without casualties of any sort. Like former raids this one of last night is marked by differences of opinion as to the type of machine used by the Germans, but most people agree the Zeppelin carried the raiders, who arrived in the small hours of the morning and spent a short time over Ipswich and Bury St. Edmunds.

Another item of news of striking interest was the present report officially from Paris of a German fleet off the coast of Belgium and the shelling of Dunkirk with the loss of twenty lives. It is a fact, however, that the air raid, the fighting along the Dardanelles and report of German warships off Belgium were compelled to forego the limelight in favor of questions of the regulation in Great Britain.

The government for the first time since the beginning of the war has had to meet a division in the house of commons. The attitude of the house probably reflects the opinion of the country, which is sharply divided by questions of necessity of regulating the consumption of alcoholic beverages.

Even the Church of England is resolved to view with uneasiness any action suggesting total prohibition, but the strongest opposition comes from Ireland. Some idea of the strength of this opposition to the proposal of the government is indicated by a London correspondent, a leading government organ, who declares the measure proposed by Chancellor of the Exchequer Lloyd George will not pass the house. British troops are reported in occupation of the narrow of the peninsula together with the town of Gallipoli.

The fighting in the west of the arena of hostilities still centers around Steenstraete. This position, occupied by the Germans, has been an irritating wedge in the allies' line.

German Attack Halted. The German attack on the Yser has ceased, says the Times correspondent in northern France writing under date of Thursday.

"The enemy has fallen back on the defensive," says the correspondent, "and is struggling to defend the small territory gained. Polish in the attempt to cross the canal, the enemy made an equally vain attempt to force a passage to the Yser at Dinmude. Belgian shells and bombs destroyed German bridges and the gallant Belgian army still holds its lines intact."

Belgians Repulse Enemy. There has been given out at Belgian army headquarters an official report saying:

"During the nights of April 28-29 our troops repulsed with success a German attack delivered from Steenstraete. On April 29 the enemy's artillery became active and bombarded at intervals various parts of our line. We occupied a farm to the south of Moutoetvrog.

Trawler Sunk. The trawler Lily Dale has been sunk by the German submarines in the North sea seventy-five miles off the mouth of the River Tyne.

A patrol boat picked up the crew of the trawler and then went in chase of the submarine, which was sighted.

Russian Advance. Petrograd, April 30.—A general offensive movement once more under way along the entire Prussian border from Tilsit to the Vistula river. The German advance this time is evidently aimed at the Baltic provinces, which are rich in crops and food supplies.

CHALLENGE WHITMAN TO GIVE TESTIMONY

DISPUTE OVER LETTER'S MEANING MAY BRING GOVERNOR INTO LIBEL CASE.

PROBE DEEP IN TRIAL

Further Witnesses to Testify for Roosevelt, of Legislation During Race Track Periods.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Syracuse, N. Y., April 30.—Counsel for William Barnes in his suit for libel against Theodore Roosevelt, said today that they requested Governor Charles S. Whitman to send in last night's telegram inviting him to appear as a witness, but so far they received no reply. The governor, it was said, was asked to appear as a witness in rebuttal and testify regarding the authenticity of a letter signed by him when district attorney of New York.

This letter, which was addressed to Charles C. Duell, Jr., of New York, states the time was ripe for progressive republicans and progressives to rid the state of corruption, not confined to one party. Colonel Roosevelt said he believed reference was to Mr. Barnes.

Among the witnesses counsel for Colonel Roosevelt promised to place upon the stand early today, were James T. Newcomb, Frederick M. Davenport and Harvey Finman, who were members of the state senate when the race track legislation was being considered. After the matter in connection with race track legislation had been investigated, it was planned, the attorneys said, to present testimony regarding things said to have happened while primary legislation was under consideration.

That Mr. Barnes is giving his reason for opposing direct primary legislation and said he believed such election would give too much publicity for candidates for office as they would be forced to go through two campaigns, was sworn testimony given today in supreme court by L. W. France, chairman of committee of Young Republican Club of Brooklyn. Mr. France said under oath that Mr. Barnes said to him the reputation of any man was ruined by turning the limelight on him and he could vote in the republican primaries and so disgust the people that they would demand repeal of the bill.

MANY FARMERS PLANT GOOD ALFALFA CROPS

Allen B. West Finds That Throughout County Farmers Are Beginning to Realize Crop Value.

(By Allen B. West.)

Reports are coming into the effect that many farmers in Rock county are starting alfalfa this year. They have never tried it before. Most of them are wisely putting in small amounts to see how they can grow it to best advantage. Alfalfa has made the start in previous years are increasing their acreage, recognizing the value of this great forage crop. The farmer who starts right with alfalfa growing will pay for seed-bed, inoculation, liming, proper seeding methods, etc. Not all these are necessary in every case, but the trying to grow this crop should find out if they are necessary on his farm. The fellow who takes a chance with any old methods is likely to be disappointed.

Those who proceed carefully will find they have a crop that exceeds all other hay crops in yields per acre, in feeding value and as soil enricher and drought resistor. Let the good work go on! The undersigned will be glad to answer any questions relative to alfalfa growing and will test soil for acidity on request if sample is sent in.

AMERICA'S PROBLEMS DUE TO WORLD'S WAR DEBATED BY EXPERTS

ANNUAL MEETING OF ACADEMY OF POLITICAL SCIENCE OPENS.

MEETING OF ACADEMY

Samuel Gompers Declares Organized Labor Should be Given Protection—Many Other Speakers.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Philadelphia, April 30.—Speakers from all sections of the United States gathered here today to attend the nineteenth annual meeting of the American Academy of Political and Social Science. The sessions which will continue through tomorrow, will partake of the nature of a National Conference to consider the important problems now confronting the United States, which have arisen because of the European conflict. Delegates appointed by the governors of many states in the union, and representatives of national, civic and trade organizations will also be present. The meeting has all the earmarks of the most important national meeting that has been held since the outbreak of the European war.

Gompers on Labor. Organized labor has been the wage-earners' greatest protection in the industry and labor through the European war, in the opinion of Samuel Gompers, President of the American Federation of Labor.

The initiative, resourcefulness and self-reliance of the wage earners expressed in the organized labor movement have been their greatest protection. Mr. Gompers said, "Through the organized labor movement we have built a structure with unyielding walls, made effective protest against excessive prices, have prevented wage reductions that would have had cumulative effect in disorganizing business, and have demanded that the government and municipal authorities shall be continued and more undertaken wherever possible."

War's Demoralization. Civilization's purposes and ideals, Mr. Gompers asserted, had been ruthlessly reversed by the European war. The civilized world had been to establish the sacredness of human life; in an instant war had turned the thought, the energy, the skill that had been to glorify life to the task of destruction.

"The labor movement of the world," Mr. Gompers continued, "is the one agency whose members have been laboring in the time of peril and now with consistent emphasis and appeal upheld the sacredness of human life and opportunity and the brotherhood of man. We are bearing the burdens of the war, and we are standing by the side of the man who is fighting for the sake of human life and are creating and directing influences that will have an important part in establishing peace and the constructive work that shall be a greater justice international relations."

"The United States as well as the whole world has suffered through the war, and the influence of the war, in the United States, has been to bring about a movement has dealt constructively with the needs and emergencies created by the war."

The effectiveness of organized self-help has been emphasized by the inarticulate helpless misery of the unorganized.

The organized labor movement is planning to protect the wage-earners against the tide of immigration of unparalleled proportions that undoubtedly will follow the war. It will be the greatest labor problem of the transition period through which industry must pass at the close of the war. It will be the great opposing force to the brutalizing influence of the war, it will be the most potent force to compel relations that subordinate all else to human welfare."

Let the government ascertain what immigration America will need to work the country's mills and shops and mines when the great industrial revival starts at the close of the European war, and having ascertained the country's needs, restrict immigration to fit them—such was the plan of the meeting today before the American Academy of Political and Social Science by Dr. Frank Warner, expert on foreign-born population for the last United States census, author and advocate of immigration.

Dr. Warner's plan provides for the creation, by federal legislation, of the governmental machinery necessary to make a measurement of American immigration needs for the revival of industrialism, which, he said, "is just around the corner."

The body-board or commission or otherwise created by the federal government should co-operate with now existing State and private employment bureaus. And the needed immigrants should be employed at standard American wages.

The British vessel, which was reported last night to have been sunk by a German submarine off the Isle Lewis, north of Scotland, was identified today as the British steamer Mobile carrying coal. She had a crew of 23 men, which were landed today.

Mrs. Kellor Speaks. The putting of the problem of unemployment directly up to industry and trade is primarily an industrial matter, she said, and the question advocated by Miss Frances A. Kellor, vice-chairman of the Committee for Immigration in America, an address today at the annual meeting of the American Academy of Political and Social Science. Miss Kellor was one of seven speakers who discussed "America's Industry and Labor as Affected by the European War."

ANTI-TIPPING BILL CAUSES NEW WRANGLE

VOTE TO RECONSIDER BILL CAUSES ARGUMENT IN SENATE OVER THE PURPOSE.

MAY RECONSIDER LAW

Question of Validity Raised as to Legislation—Senate Engraves Arnold Bill for Garage Owners.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Madison, April 30.—The senate came near to being imprisoned under the call to order today. Senator Bossard made such a motion when Senator Burke moved to reconsider the vote by which the senate passed the anti-tipping bill over the veto. Senator Burke asked that consideration be deferred until on his own motion he be deferred until Wednesday. Senator Bossard finally agreed to waive his motion for a poll although expressing the fear that the reconsideration motion was made with the purpose of defeating his bill and more votes against it might have been gained. He said he was impelled to ask for reconsideration because of the doubt of the law's validity. The senate made a correction in former procedure to reconsider a vote which it passed the Cunningham bill, extending the compensation period for tubercular cattle and repassed it.

The senate engrossed the Arnold bill giving garage owners a partial exemption of automobiles left for storage while such machines are in their possession.

The assembly today went on record as favoring limited scope for appointments under civil service law. It engrossed the Hambrecht bill throwing open the entire civil service eligible to appointment instead of limiting to third highest as under the present law.

The Evening Wisconsin of Milwaukee becomes the official state paper in place of the Madison State Journal.

The Harding anti-tipping bill which Attorney General Owen holds to be constitutional, was sent to engrossment.

The Hambrecht bill appropriating $5,000 for Wisconsin's representation at the semi-centennial celebration of the Emancipation at Chicago, passed the house.

The assembly judiciary committee reported for passage the bill to change the election from first Tuesday to first Monday in April.

The senate engaged the Budget bill for one day's rest in seven for railroad telegraphers.

The assembly passed a bill to permit cities to try the city management plan and to allow the city manager to give the industrial commission large powers over contracts between masters and apprentices, which bill now goes to the governor.

A score of bills killed by the senate was one increasing the workmen's compensation and allowing appeals of decision from the railroad commission.

The assembly adjourned until tonight, and the senate until Monday night.

EQUAL LABOR WAGES FOR WORKING WOMEN URGED BY ENGLISH

Women Volunteering for War Service Should Join Labor Unions and Demand Equal Wages With Men.

London, April 30.—Equal pay for equal work, the training of inexperienced women and the supervision of labor which are the main problems with which the Government has to deal in its scheme of providing war work for women.

The pay matter is serious in the view of the British union which fear the employers will use the less paid women in order to oust men and at the end of the war refuse to restore men to their old positions. Suffragists also champion the equal pay for equal work demand, since they regard less money for equivalent work as an insult to their sex. Further complications are caused by women volunteering to work free but it suggested their wages be paid and turned into a charity fund.

It is estimated that 80 per cent of the women of the British Isles are engaged at the present moment either on voluntary work or in professional or industrial work. The most recent service work should join the unions in order to maintain present conditions for war work have been filed by women. Of this number, the women of London contribute 13,000, the women of the Midlands 12,000, the women of Yorkshire 9,000, Scotland 4,250, Wales 670, Ireland 600 and the rest come from other parts of England.

These resolutions represent the attitude of the women's suffragists, the trades unionists and socialist groups presented at the conference, representing about 5,000,000 workers of both sexes.

Mary R. MacArthur, who presided, described a visit to a large armament factory where she found a large number of women applicants for work standing outside.

"It is one of the women to fill the places of men who have voluntarily enlisted," declared Miss MacArthur, "and another to allow ourselves to be used as instruments to force economic conscription on the nation."

War service by women, she continued, should not be used to force men to go to the front. National conscription would be preferable to an economic conscription of this kind. Those acquainted with the union movement knew that the men had never objected to women as women, but to the war organization, women had taken men's places very much less than men would take.

Speaking of the claim that for giving them help unconditional to the government, she said that in so doing the women would not be assisting the country but helping profit making interests, which were already shamelessly exploiting the present national emergency.

Male operators for night duty in the telephone service, which is government work, have been asked to give up a special call has been made for women operators for the period of the war. Heretofore, women have been employed only on day duty.

The women who operate the switches are paid $5.50 a week during their training period, and six dollars when trained, a week to consist of 48 hours of work. Beds are provided, so that they can sleep on the premises, and contain two hours of sleep in the night.

Women are also fast replacing men on the railway lines of England in minor capacities. Following the innovation of women baggage porters on the Great Western railway has engaged women ticket collectors and punchers. They wear a neat, plain dress, with a badge on the sleeve.

HISTORY OF WAR TAUGHT TO FRENCH SCHOOL CHILDREN.

Paris, April 30.—The history of the war is being taught to the children of France on Tuesday. By order of the minister of public instruction the schools have observed a patriotic day. Every teacher talked about the history of the war, the character of the conflict from the French standpoint. Three followed a Belgian day devoted to King Albert's heroic attitude, a Serbian day, and a day consecrated to the heroes of the celebrated 3-inch field gun.

Instead of distracting the minds of the children from school work, the war has been made to heighten it. The patriotic atmosphere has been normal throughout the winter. The greatest difficulty was the necessity of finding new quarters for the primary classes, most of the school-houses having been utilized by the army for barracks and hospitals, but this has been overcome.

The details of instruction in matters pertaining to the war are left to the discretion of the teachers. Some of them read and comment upon the official communiques. Others read the exploits of officers and men as disclosed by the citations in the orders of the day. We have letters sent from the front by soldiers of the vicinity are read. It is often the soldier in person, who tells the little and big experiences for many teachers, disabled for further service in the army, have returned to their school duties.

Sometimes it is a soldier that has not been a pedagogical who relates his experiences.

EMPTY TOILET TUBES PURCHASED BECAUSE OF SHORTAGE OF TIN. Berlin, April 30.—In line with German conservation methods one of the largest manufacturers of toilet preparations now is offering 8 pennings to all who turn in empty tubes that formerly contained tooth paste, and turn them in toward the general increase of the tin supply. The tubes now are wrapped in a flaming red paper which points out that "pure tin is valuable, and because of the war, scarce." Each purchaser is asked to return the empty tube to his druggist when he buys a new one.

Desperate Fighting is Evidently Under Way in the Eastern War Zone at Present.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Berlin, wireless to London, April 30.—The following official statement was issued last night from headquarters of the general staff:

"Reports from the Dardanelles are tributes to the bravery and enthusiasm of the Turkish troops. In the first battle of Kum Kale the Turks did not fire a shot, but repulsed the enemy with the bayonet."

"Forty warships bombarded Seddul Bahr. While this battle was in progress the Turks captured large quantities of rifles and ammunition."

"At Gallipoli the Turks fought uninterruptedly for two days against a constant attack of the enemy without showing fatigue."

"On the eastern and western front the situation generally speaking is unchanged. In Russian Poland and the Carpathians there have been lively artillery duels in which our fire was very effective."

"In the Opar valley the enemy after many hours of artillery fire vainly attempted a night advance against the heights held by our infantry."

Paris, April 30.—A dispatch from London last night quoted the Athens correspondent of the London Express as saying the town of Gallipoli has been captured by the allies.

DORMITORY FAVORED AT NORMAL SCHOOL

Several Speakers Urge Against Bill Repealing $100,000 Appropriation for Stevens Point.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Madison, Wis., April 30.—Arguments against the Hoffman bill repealing the appropriation of $100,000 made two years ago for a dormitory at the Stevens Point normal school were made before the assembly committee on education yesterday afternoon by normal school interests. Those who spoke were Mrs. H. E. Younkers of Waunakee, Clagh, Gates, Superior, and George B. Nelson, Stevens Point, normal regents; Presidents John F. Sims, Stevens Point, and V. E. McCaskill, Superior, representing the presidents and Dr. Eliza Beth Aldrich, medical adviser for women in the normal schools. The Superior men reviewed the success of the Superior dormitory, which has yielded a large surplus, charging students only $4 per week for both room and board, and has become self-sustaining.

COMMERCIAL CLUB LUNCH GET-TOGETHER MOVEMENT
LAST NIGHT.

BRING COUNTY TO CITY

Would Extend Janesville to County by Improving Markets and Services, and Making Better Streets and Roads.

BOOSTING IDEAS FOR CITY AND THE COUNTY

Boost for Janesville and Rock county, not second, third but always first.

Make Janesville the Biggest Little City in Earth.

Extend Janesville as far as the merchants have equipment to demand trade by improving the markets.

Try to improve service and not to maintain high prices.

Improve the most valuable assets of the city and county, by permanent streets and roads, the connecting links of trade and commerce.

Promote a friendly feeling between county and city, generating a confidence by interchange of trade.

The further welding together of Rock county and Janesville for the purpose of mutual commercial and economic benefit, was accomplished at the "Get-Together" meeting held at the Y. M. C. A. building last evening.

It was a most cosmopolitan gathering of 175 enthusiastic members for the purpose of exchanging ideas for the improvement of the community.

J. A. Craig, president of the Commercial club, presided and in the opening address explained that E. A. McMahon of Madison, scheduled to speak, was at the last moment called to his home because of the illness of a relative, but truly, the exchange of ideas between members accomplished a manifold result for the success of the Commercial club as an organization to promote a common interest for a better community.

"This is the second of four 'get-together' meetings planned by the Commercial club," said Chairman Craig, "and we are desirous to bring a closer relation between the county and the city. Men and communities should have ideals and as they are accomplished the stake should be moved on and the public should unite for business interests to reach the end."

Make the Community. "Janesville people have too small a opinion of themselves. The community is what we make it. No one will deny but what Rock county and Janesville have the commercial advantages, and the spirit of the western towns, to boost, boost is needed here."

"First the clubs aims to have an extension of trade territory. The merchants of Janesville can reach as much trade as they have equipment to demand and supply that trade. Acquaintanceship in the service is needed, the ability to supply the goods demanded and then to advertise. Janesville has a newspaper that is second to none and the trade extension will give us an advertiser man can do it. Merchants, by uniting, will come to look upon the man across the street, not as a competitor, but as a co-worker in the development of trade into a large zone."

Trade Extension. "The improvement of highways and streets is a paramount and fundamental part of existing trade and the improvement of local markets is a fact that is necessary to the commercial end to which the county is striving. Good streets in Janesville and good roads in the county are the most valuable assets to demand trade and we are beginning to accomplish a start towards this end. Preparing to trade with your customers, better with one another by improving the markets and the result effected will be beneficial to both parties."

"Our aim is to make Rock county the foremost agricultural county in the state. The conditions are here. By the improvement of livestock and the production of surplus crops, we are only helping the farmer, but every one in Rock county, Rock county needs every man to achieve this result and every citizen has a work to perform in putting dollars in their pockets and other people's pockets."

"Make Janesville an attractive city to live in. It is our home. Blake Rock county a most beautiful place, increasing the facilities that cause prosperity to all. The Commercial club has not lost sight of the valuable aid of securing more stable jobs. The county needs more important one, of developing what we have now. It is up to us to make this movement into a permanent one. People of Rock county for mutual benefit and remember what you will get out of this movement depends on what you put in it."

Work of the Club. W. J. McDowell, secretary of the Commercial club, related of the work of the club committees which were formed for the purpose of aiding the county in the commercial gathering. Information that is vital to the merchant and professional men, the farmer and the working men, enabling them to secure information and aid quickly and effectively. His listing ventures are prevented and the personal service rendered serves to advance the interests of all. "The members of the club should join in the united work and make men help themselves in advancing Rock county and Janesville to the front," said Mr. McDowell.

Wayne Munn reported that on the 22nd of May there would be formed an organization for the improving of livestock in Rock county and the aim was to raise the standard to such a level that Rock county could take its place, rightly deserved, as champion of good cattle breeding.

Grow by Co-operation. E. D. McGowan spoke of the aid of the Commercial club as an aid in making Janesville the biggest little city on earth and Rock county the most valued community in the west. The city and county grows through co-operation, which should be free from all animosity and that which drags down and does not build up. The city and county should be united in the united work and make men help themselves in advancing Rock county and Janesville to the front," said Mr. McGowan.

Bingham of Milton voiced the sentiments of the new county members of the club when he said: "The Commercial club aid me and my neighbors and the back of my neck. His club's efforts. His short but positive talk appealed to the club as being the countrymen's ideas of the get-together movement."

Speaks. T. E. Welsh spoke of the necessity of bringing the market to Janesville and the problem of improving the county schools through Commercial club aid to provide for a more friendly feeling between the city and the county. It was declared by Mr. Welsh that the county school in general were desolate and inexperienced teachers and it was worth the consideration of the club to improve the conditions by appearance of the schools and allow a better feeling toward the country teachers. Organizing and holding contests for improving school grounds and buildings was a method ventured to give the country teachers a feeling toward Janesville, resulting in a stimulant in the end. "The Commercial club should not be organized to hold-up prices and is not a union, but a union to sell commodities at decreased prices with better service will result in making more money," said the speaker.

Educator's Idea. H. C. Buell, superintendent of schools, spoke of the aid that could be rendered through the public institutions of learning. "Education is allied to the idea of reaching into the county and bringing the county to the city. Country pupils in number are enrolled in Janesville schools and the vocational training offers an aid to the commercial man of the county and city. There is a feeling toward the educators in securing results that will prove of the most value and service to the community and suggestions from the county to the city and the city to the county or others. The Janesville Industrial school could be made to produce better service for the merchants of this city and the county producers by the training of the employees."

Go to Countrymen. Rev. Henry Willmann, who was introduced as being a "live wire," in community betterment, said that he was one of the last converts to be brought to the sinner's bench, but the pastors have a work to perform in accomplishing the result desired. "Janesville should be forward to the hub of Rock county, making all roads lead to this city and in return giving the trader in trade the best service possible. Make an impression on the minds of others and it is not detrimental and one that will last. Put big ideas before us. The big idea given by Rev. Willmann, that has a new approval, was to have the Commercial club go to the people in the county and not expect them always to come to them. A social survey of the inhabitants was suggested as being an aid to co-operate the county and city."

W. H. Dougherty declared that the county members of the club should offer their side, whereby Janesville and Rock county can be improved. "The great result of getting together movement is to break down the lack of confidence of one man towards another. It is one for all—all for one."

John C. Nichols spoke of the work of the Fair association as an aid to improve the county and city and urged that all boost for the results to come. Support for and the enlarging of this city was urged.

At the close of the meeting, those who attended gave indications that the "get-together" spirit had been increased by large bounds with every member having the work of the club placed squarely before them. The need of his service to fuse the organization into an allied body for the common purpose. Each one realized that the uniting of the city and the county was a big and a noble work and a mutual interest that would mean results, not to one man or set of men, but to the county as a whole. An excellent banquet was served at seven o'clock, during which Hatch's all may be coming into its own again in New York, despite the not over sanguine prognostications of those who figured that a 1915 season, conducted along the lines of the various race meetings of last year, would end in a natural death for the sport of kings.

An analysis of the 1914 report of the state racing commission, while it does not give admission figures to the various tracks, sheds considerable light on a growingly brilliant hue on the amount of money distributed to horsemen in stakes and purses. In ninety-four racing days, $425,000 went to the owners of the thoroughbreds. This indicates, considering that the promoter's admit small profit, that about $700,000 was taken in.

Very nice sums these, but the average horseman asks more. He has been wont to gaze upon variegated figures such, for instance, as those handed out by the man who prints the advance stake programs for coming meetings. In the amounts to be hung up for the various events lies his main interest.

At Belmont Track, so when the announcement was made, definitely that the historic Futurity, one of the richest stakes in the world, will be run in future at Belmont Park during the autumn meeting, it was even more encouraging than the report of the commission.

The past three years saw the big two-year-old classic fought out on the final day at Saratoga, adding materially to the prestige and profit of the upstate race meeting. Only the sale of the Sheephead Bay grounds prevented the restoration of the Futurity to a veritable semblance of the days when it was marked by the great racing duel of the Whitney-Kene interests and the memorable occasion when the wonderful Sysonby quit cold when the still more wonderful, but underling, Robin only mare, Artful, looked him in the eye at the head of the stretch and then came along to win all by herself from her stablemate, Tanya.

Baseball Situation. "It's great to be young and a Giant." There, we've gone and done it, not because it is great to be, etc., but because everyone else has quoted Jimmie Hopper's classic baseball line and we simply were compelled to get it off our mind.

As a matter of fact, the young part has nothing to do with it this year. What young aggregation could have pulled itself together so nicely. After it had managed to get itself defeated by every push team along the spring training route. Beginning by slugging the everlasting ambitions out of Uncle Wilbur Robinson's Dodgers, the McGrawites have continued right along at a championship gait just as if they never had taken any disassembling to lose early games. Not only must the world's champion croakers simply forget that such is the case in the McGraw camp this season, just now, the Giants look better than at the same time in 1914 and it is safe to say that they will not be overwhelmed by the opposition in the early months of the long campaign, as was predicted in some quarters.

It is well for New York that the nine rounded into form when the opening gong clangs, because no first division possibility can afford this year to lose early games. Not only must the world's champion croakers simply forget that such is the case in the McGraw camp this season, just now, the Giants look better than at the same time in 1914 and it is safe to say that they will not be overwhelmed by the opposition in the early months of the long campaign, as was predicted in some quarters.

All of which goes far toward lending a more pleasing aspect to National league baseball from the standpoint of sport and from that of the magnate—a two very standpoints, we assure you. Opening crowds were not up to the standard former years, no matter what attendance figures were quoted, and the interest in the east did not prove keen. However, with the prospect of a better pennant fight than usual between teams that in the distant past were regarded mainly as "fillers to make up the league, a revival is not far distant.

Yale Crew Strong. When the Yale University crew handily defeated the veteran eight of Pennsylvania, rowing sharp, began to figure that Coach Nickalls of the Yale navy boasted a sweet combination of oarsmen to wield into material for the annual contest with Harvard. The Pennsylvanians were figured certain victors and were favored in what little betting was recorded on the spring battle.

But recent shakeups and displacements in the Yale boat upset the theories of college oarsmen considerably. Nickalls does not appear to hold a high opinion of the Pennsylvanians, as compared to Harvard, Yale's main opponent and the crew with which his men finally will battle for the greatest spring honor.

Who is Champion? It has been customary to overrate the Yale and Harvard eights greatly from year to year. The dual contest on the Thames appears to possess a greater glamour than the open struggle on the Hudson, and the Thames victor, for some reason, invariably has been called the intercollegiate championship eight. As a matter of fact, it is more doubtful whether either the ordinary Yale or Harvard crew could repeat its victory if matched against the winner of the Poughkeepsie race.

What little "dope" exists on the subject, and it is always a subject of much controversy among collegians, favors the Hudson aggregations. Invariably, Cornell easily trimmed Harvard eights, whenever it later proved that Cornell was good enough to win at Poughkeepsie. Then Harvard generally won handily from Yale.

From that standpoint it would have seemed that Yale this year has an exceptional crew, and such was the opinion of the rowing experts. Nickalls, though, has been shaking up his eights so often that it begins to appear as if he had the best material in Yale history. If so, Harvard is due for another beating.

CLEVELAND BREAKS WINNING STREAK OF WHITE SOX 5 TO 4

Chicago, April 30.—Four base running, which seems to be about their only fault, cost the White Sox their game yesterday with the Cleveland Indians, the victors winning 5 to 4 by a brilliant ninth inning rally. When the Indians rolled around to the ninth inning rampus, with the score tied, the Sox put Blackburne on second with Eddie Collins at bat. With two count two and three, the game depending on the next pitched ball, Coombs, pitching, turned and caught Blackburne off second. On the next ball Collins singled.

Eddie Cicotte started for the Sox and in eight innings was touched for eleven base hits, yet the Indians were able to count only two runs through effective pitching in the pinches. The Sox had scored four, so it looked like eight straight. Guy Morton was on the slab for Birmingham and gave way in the pinch to Coombs, who killed a Sox victory when he caught Blackburne in the ninth.

Cuba Play Pittsburgh.

Pittsburgh, April 30.—The Chicago

Nationals were idle in Pirate town yesterday. They open a four game series with Pittsburgh today.

Sign Fed Star. New York, April 30.—President Gilmore, head of the Federal league, suspended Benny Kauff, star of the out-law circuit, for his jump to the New York Nationals from the Brooklyn Federal team. The Federal league men declare that there is "no chance" that Kauff will play with the Giants.

Kauff signed a three year contract, iron bound, with the Giants, and then attempted to play center field for McGraw in the game with Boston yesterday. President Gaffney of the Boston Braves refused to allow the champions to play, and his opinion was sustained by Tanager, president of the National league. The first game the umpire forfeited to New York, Boston refusing to play despite Tanager's order to forfeit the game to Boston if the Giants tried to play Kauff. Agreeing to play the Giants went through what McGraw supposed was an exhibition game, losing 13 to 8. Fred Merkle, in a collision with Schmidt, had his left elbow dislocated, and will be out of the game for at least a month.

Hans Lobert was spiked by Rabbit Maranville in the next inning. Both league presidents of organized ball declared that New York has no right to play Kauff, and every player who plays in a game with him is liable to suspension.

"One of my chief ambitions has been to lead a major league team to a pennant," says Rebel Oakes. Meanwhile the rebel will have to content himself with trying for a pennant with the Pittsburgh Reds.

Odd that the wise old owls in the American league aren't jerry to steal. Maise's one weakness in base stealing. He can't do a thing in that line when he is on first base and second and third are occupied.

"I've been in baseball over twenty years," says Charley Ebbets, "and everything has gone up in price—everything. Bats cost more, bases cost more, players cost more, railroad fares cost more. The only thing that has not gone up is the price of upper berths, and the players won't sleep in them."

TRIES FOR TEN-SPOT BUT HE STRIKES OUT.

Johnny Evers recently told the story of a $10 bill that cost a ball game.

"A certain player—he's still in the game—was sitting on the bench," said Johnny. "He was then only a rookie. The game was close. In the last of the ninth runners were on second and third. A hit of almost any kind would bring in the two runs the club needed to win the game. It was the pitcher's turn at bat.

The manager's eye lit on the rookie. The opposing pitcher had never faced him. "Go up to bat, Blank, and if you bring in those two men I'll give you a ten-spot," said the manager.

The kid stepped up to the plate and promptly struck out. "On the way to the clubhouse the manager turned to him and said: 'What was the matter with you? You might have broken your back going after those high ones.'

"That's just it," replied Blank. "I guess I was reaching too far for that ten-spot."

ANNOUNCING

Grand Opening Saturday, May 1

OF

Steinway & Lyon & Healy Pianos

We have just taken the agency for this vicinity of the two greatest pianos of the present day.

In completing negotiations, we were permitted to select the very cream of the Chicago stock of these world-famous instruments. These pianos are now here and afford an opportunity to music lovers never given before outside of the metropolis. Columns could be filled with descriptions of the beauties of these pianos, but the names of the pianos, combined with our long-established record for fair dealing, make this unnecessary. Nevertheless, too much stress cannot be laid upon the fact that here, at least, is what so many of our best people have desired, viz.—assurance of perfect satisfaction in a piano for the home.

The figures at which we will sell these pianos are the lowest New York and Chicago quotations.

Special Price Inducements

In addition to the Steinway and Lyon & Healy pianos, we have also brought to Janesville a new stock of lower-priced pianos bought by us at far below usual ruling prices. These pianos we shall offer in turn at bargain prices to those who want an inexpensive piano, but one of first class workmanship.

OPENING BARGAINS

The ever popular WASHBURN, presenting more for the money in our judgment than any other piano at its price of $250. A special style LELAND of excellent material and workmanship, a genuine bargain at $175.00. Leland Player Piano at $375.00.

A Visit of Inspection Is Worth Making

A visit of inspection to this collection of superb musical instruments is worth an hour's time on the part of anyone in the least interested in music. Come in and make yourself freely at home examining and listening to these delightful pianofortes. Nothing to approach this stock in point of quality or value has ever been shown heretofore in this county. We expect all lovers of piano music to make us a visit.

MERELY AN INCIDENT.

It is perhaps merely an incident in the campaign of misrepresentation that the university lobby is attempting to make the general public swallow, their statement that former United States Senator John C. Spooner did not approve of Governor Philipp's plan for a central board of education and would come to Wisconsin to aid in defeating the measure. If there was any real belief that Senator Spooner had given voice to such a sentiment it is set at rest by the statement of J. L. Sturdevant of Wausau, who has just returned from an extended eastern trip and had a personal interview with Senator Spooner on this subject. Mr. Sturdevant says that Senator Spooner has no intention of coming to Wisconsin to take up the cudgils in behalf of the present university regime.

"Mr. Spooner was surprised when he heard that such a statement had gone forth, as in his talk before the alumni association of New York, the first of the month, he had expressly stated that, having known Governor Philipp for a great many years, he had no fear that the governor would do much less than advocate, any legislation which would in any way hamper or impair the usefulness of the university. Mr. Spooner expressed confidence of government of the university by a board of regents, provided the personnel of the board was up to the standard of former years, with men of the William F. Vilas stamp, as under that system the university had attained great success."

"He was emphatic in his assertion that such a board should be absolutely free from any one man's domination."

With the university press bureau working overtime at the expense of the taxpayers of the state, to send out erroneous statements similar to the Spooner incident, it is about time to cut a halt. Nor does President Van Hise fail to have his little say at every public meeting that he is arranged and his facts and figures often do not correspond with those obtained by careful investigators who have made a close study of the university mismanagement for some time past.

HOW IT WORKS.
 England is not going to prohibit the sale of liquors during the term of the war. Not by a good deal! But it is going to make liquor so expensive that it will be almost prohibitive to the drinkers, inn-keepers and liquor shops. It is not prohibition, but it is something that is even worse for the drinking public of England. Parliament is ready to back up the minister in its efforts and the following dispatch tells how it is going to be worked.

Chancellor Lloyd George submitted the government's liquor program to the house of commons Thursday afternoon and immediately moved that its most important provision, an increase of $3.85 per proof gallon in the duty on whisky, brandy and gin should be adopted once and put into effect immediately.

"It is necessary to pass this resolution tonight," he explained, "in order to prevent the withdrawal of spirits from bond."

The house divided on the resolution. It was the first division since the beginning of the war. Mr. Lloyd George's victory, however, was complete. The resolution was carried by a vote of 88 to 5.

The former duty on spirits was 10 shillings a proof gallon. The bill adds 15 shillings and 9d a gallon, in all about $6.25. The taxes on other alcoholic drinks are increased in like proportion, varying, however, according to their strength and character.

On beer the new excise duty is graduated from 12 to 36 shillings ($3 to $9) a barrel, according to its strength. The duty on sparkling wines becomes 12 shillings per gallon. On other wines the present duties are quadrupled. These rates take effect from May 3. The resolution imposing them was adopted by a vote of 74 to 5, without discussion.

The government is to control the sale of all liquors in areas where war material is produced and where shipping is carried on. The present public houses in these areas are to be reformed or, in many cases, put out of business. Hours of sale will be restricted and the use of light and non-intoxicating drinks will be encouraged. Financial sufferers are to be compensated. A commission will be appointed to attend to this matter.

Prohibition, the chancellor said, would not be tried until other efforts failed.

WHY NOT ACT?

Why not take some radical action to eradicate the nuisance that exists at South Janesville? Now that the way has been paved by the arrest and conviction of a saloon-keeper for violating the law, why not see that this license at least is revoked and a step taken in cleaning up this district so long a disgrace to the community? If the sheriff's office at the district attorney do not have power under the law, to take action on their own initiative, why would it not be possible for some citizen of the township in which the nuisance exists to make formal complaint so that something can be done at once? South Janesville conditions have long been a disgrace to the city and county and it is time to put an end once and for all to the existence of disreputable "joints" that have been permitted to flourish there unmolested for some years past.

GET TOGETHER SPIRIT.

The get-together spirit as demonstrated at the supper of the Commercial club members at the Y. M. C. A. last evening evidences the general thought of boosting Janesville into the place it should hold in Wisconsin cities. Janesville has every advantage and united action on the part of the citizens will bring about the desired results. "Get together" is a good slogan, and the interest evinced, in the advanced and general discussion that took place last evening has dispelled in the minds of many that the Commercial club is not out for real, genuine business. Be a booster and join the organization that is seeking to better Janesville for the advantage of all classes of citizens.

Even though the state senate saw fit to pass the anti-tipping measure over the governor's veto, it is expected the house will kill the measure when it comes before them for consideration. Philipp places it upon a legal basis and does not think it is constitutional. Perhaps he is right. At any rate, whether it passes or not, it will do much to alleviate the nuisance of tipping that has grown beyond bounds.

The state legislature has invited former President Taft to address them at a joint session on his visit to Madison next week. It will be well worth while listening to a talk from a man whose term as president will be looked back upon in a few years as one of the most conservative that the country has ever been blessed with.

The Barnes and Roosevelt lawsuit is bringing out lots of interesting evidence that the public have guessed at, but never really knew the inside of before. Politics make strange bedfellows these days and the ways of the average political leader are like the "heathen Chinese" of Bret Hart's poker game fable.

When talking of Janesville to friends from away do not forget to point out the natural advantages that exist here that other communities lack. This is a pretty good place after all despite the knocks that some disgruntled citizens hand out at various times.

When cleaning up the city next week why not start at the river banks and give them a thorough trimming up just to get a good beginning to a noble work?

There is no place you can dispose of any thing as quickly and cheaply as through a classified ad. Try it and be convinced.

LOW FARES TO CALIFORNIA AND A COMFORTABLE WAY TO GO.

When you travel West this year, your comfort, convenience and enjoyment will be the most important things to consider. Therefore you will want to choose a train that provides the utmost in service.

The height of travel comfort is afforded by "THE PACIFIC LIMITED," the premier no-extra-fare train of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway to California. This is a steel-equipped train, luxuriously appointed, providing thorough service, without change of cars, direct to both San Francisco and Los Angeles.

Another convenience, and one much appreciated by the tourist, is the morning arrival at either terminal, giving an entire day for one to get located.

The present unusually low fares entitle you to "PACIFIC LIMITED" service; also to visit both Expositions. For a trifle more you can journey on up the Coast over the "Shasta-Rainier" route—see the wonderful Pacific North Coast and Puget Sound Country—and return home over the cool northern route of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway—the picturesque "Trail of the Olympians," the route which affords the greatest volume of beautiful western scenery. For particulars about fares, time of trains and connections, and for literature descriptive of this "Grand Circle Tour," apply to Local Agent of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway.

DISCOVER ALLEGED CRACKSMAN TO BE NAMED ED. WAGNER

Police Find Photograph and Bertillon Measurements That Charles Hayden Probably Is Noted Criminal.

Is Charles Hayden, the prisoner at the county jail, awaiting a hearing on the charge of attempting burglary, Edward Wagner, a most feared, safe-blower and cracksmen who has a police reputation and prison record as one of the most expert "peetmen" in the United States? The police will produce evidence at the examination on next Tuesday to show that Hayden and Wagner are the same person, using photographs and a description of the man by the name of Hayden.

Again it was through the celebrated Bertillon system that it was found that Hayden's real name is Wagner. Today Chief Champion is expecting replies by telegram from the Anconia Iowa state prison, from Marshalltown, Iowa, Joliet, Ill., and several other places where it is said Wagner committed robberies by opening safes or has been a convict.

Hayden until yesterday refused to have his photograph taken or to converse with the police regarding his past history. He showed that he was a full and complete cracksmen, and proved a hard customer to deal with. On Sunday Fred Gillman and Cal Broughton of Janesville paid a visit to the local police station and interested themselves in the case. In looking over back numbers of the Detective Magazine, the official police magazine, they found a photograph of a safe-blower named Ed. Wagner. The accompanying article told of the capture of Wagner with five other alleged cracksmen named John Lawson, Frank Burns, James Cocoran, James Cocoran, all experts, at Marshalltown, Iowa, in 1906 by Chief of Police W. E. Nicholson for bank robbery.

To obtain a photograph the police fixed up a ruse with the county jail authorities. Hayden was marched out of the jail and placed before the camera. As the photographer snapped the camera when Hayden, with great skill, closed his eyes and contorted his face to change the facial expressions. The photographer then again and this time snapped the camera when Hayden, alias Wagner, was not expecting it. The pictures were compared with the one in the police magazine and the resemblance was striking. There were the same large protruding ears and the same heavy creases in the cheek and forehead.

The suspect was stripped of his clothes and it was found that he had tattoo marks in Indian ink of a flag on the left arm with a woman's head on the forearm just above the wrist. On the right arm there was a tattoo of a ball and bat. The description of Ed. Wagner in the magazine gave an exact account of these tell-tale marks and the Bertillon measurements were several inches off. Hayden is 5 ft. 10 in., 135 lbs., 6 ft. 1 in., 101 lbs., 7 ft. 4 in., 145 lbs. Hayden is slightly over five feet and he weighs about 125 pounds, but refuses to be measured at the jail. He stutters noticeably.

Chief Champion this morning sent telegrams to places where it was believed Wagner had served terms or was wanted for offenses to obtain his record. The police have records of several big postoffice robberies in the northern part of the state within the last month or so.

In his limited conversation Hayden used a slang that is hard to understand as it is the special speaking code of criminals. The man Phillips, who gave the police the tip that Hayden was in town to blow the safe at the Val Blatz or Schlitz agency, Chief Champion learned, is known as "Davenport Whitey" and it is believed he revealed the information, fearing to undertake the jobbers with Hayden. Phillips told the police that Hayden planned to blow the safe at the Val Blatz warehouse, while there was a train at the station. To prevent the noise of the explosion being heard as the plans were to set the fuse just as the midnight mail train was pulling out of the Northwestern station. It was also believed that the stranger that Hayden wished to obtain "gats" or revolvers at a Janesville hardware store before attempting the job, but on looking over the stores, it was found this "gob" would be too dangerous. Hayden had a little over five dollars when searched at the time of his arrest.

In the charge of attempted burglary does not hold out against the suspect, Chief Champion expects to serve a warrant charging that Hayden is guilty of carrying burglary tools, as the janitor found on the man would be evidence to warrant a prosecution for this offense.

NO APRIL SHOWERS; HOW ABOUT FLOWERS?

Since there have been no showers in April, will there be no flowers in May? The old saying is that "April showers bring May flowers," but this year it has been a rainless April, consequently one might expect a flowerless May.

According to the United States weather official, less than half an inch of rain has fallen during the past thirty days, while the normal average precipitation for this period is 2.80. Added to this is the fact that the last half of the month has been normal by 1.38 inches, which makes the total deficiency 3.56, a most unusual condition.

Farmers report that the land is becoming dry for planting and sowing, but winter and spring grain and meadows are looking fine despite the dearth of moisture. Rain will be needed soon, however, or else the early crops will suffer.

In the matter of temperature April has been fresh this year, the average daily temperature ranging ten degrees above normal throughout the month. The high mark of the month was reached Wednesday when the mercury registered 88 degrees.

MAY 3 and 4 ARE CLEAN-UP AND PAINT-UP DAYS

Time to Paint Up.
(By Walt Mason. Copyrighted.)
As I've often said before, you should toddle to the store, if your stand-off's not too faint, and invest in yellow paint; then embellish house and barn, till the neighbors say: "By darn! What a lovely, gorgeous hue! We must get to painting too!" That's the way great movements start; some wise gent with hero heart sets the pace, and then the guys follow where his pathway lies. If with glad and joyous whoop you should paint your chicken coop, red or yellow, pink or gray, you will see the neighbor say to the nearest drug store: "Rush, there to buy some paint, a brush; and next day you'll see him hump putting green stripes on his pump, and he'll give a coat of blue to the fence and clothes-line, too. In the spring Dame Nature tries to astonish human eyes, spreading on the colors thick; everything is span and spick; fields of green and skies of blue, everywhere a pleasing hue. And her sunlight often falls on our gray and dingy walls, and it makes her sick and faint that we don't indulge in paint. Buy a gallon can right now! Paint the sidewalk and the cow, paint the house and paint the shed, paint things yellow, paint them red!

Like charity the "Clean-up and Paint-up" campaign should start at home. Let's begin the good work on our houses and around our own yards. If the house needs painting, or cleaning or fixing up inside or out, get busy and do it, and then you can consistently admonish your neighbor to go and do likewise.

We've had our "Go to Church Sunday," and we are moving grandly along in the matter of moral house-cleaning; such agencies as the Civic League, the Woman's Clubs, the Associated charities and the churches are doing good work in altruistic directions so now let the whole bunch get together next week and have a real cleaning and painting up of the entire city.

Clean up and paint up. That is a civic prescription that is worth while. Cleanliness is akin to godliness. You have heard that enough to convince you of its truth, but we sometimes overlook a truth by reason of its sheer familiarity, or at least fail to profit by it as we should. Clean houses, clean lawns, clean streets, clean alleys, clean outbuildings—that condition means health and fort and aesthetic pleasure. Lax and tawdry negligence indicate decay and shiftlessness; they invite disease; they are ugly, offensive, unnatural.

With the coming of the bluebirds every yard should be thoroughly and all rubbish should be away and destroyed. Pick and dispose of things. Be outside the house and inside house.

you have done that, begin to paint up. Never mind, we don't whose paint you use, but use paint. Paint makes old things appear new. Paint is sanitary preservative. Paint is not a necessity, but a necessity.

Clean up and paint up. Paint destroys millions of germs that infect wood. Paint is one of the enemies with whom the doctor has to contend. Paint is the doctor's rival.

It's a fine thing to live in age of soap and paint, a finer thing to live in any community where these things are religiously used. It pays in many ways to be clean. About the only popular thing left in this country that appeals to anyone if it happens to be dirty is a dollar; but the majority prefer clean dollars, though we can't deny that they may be tempted. That isn't due to the condition of the dollar, however. It's because Uncle Sam says it's worth a hundred cents even if its face isn't washed.

In every other sense and relation cleanliness is a personal and civic asset.

So, Mr. Knocker, go chase yourself—no, go and paint everything in sight except your mother-in-law. She probably has learned how to do that job for herself.

Clean up and paint up, or shut up if you can't do anything but growl. There is a scripture that fits your case if you want to continue dirty and rusty. It reads:

"He that is filthy, let him be filthy still."

That was all right scripture away back yonder, but in these days we won't let a fellow be that way. The interests of the public are paramount to those of the individual.

THE EASIEST WAY TO END DANDRUFF

Stop Falling Hair and Itching Scalp.

There is one sure way that never fails to remove dandruff completely and that is to dissolve it. This destroys it entirely. To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning most, if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft and look and feel a hundred times better.

If you want to keep your hair looking rich, do by all means get rid of dandruff, for nothing destroys the hair so quickly. It not only starves the hair and makes it fall out, but it makes it stringy, straggly, dull, dry, brittle and lifeless, and everybody notices it. You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive, and four ounces is all you will need. This simple remedy has never been known to fail.

CHAPTER XVIII.

A Business Venture.

IN a few moments Vivian came out, and George Caldwell also joined the company on the porch. After a little while Joy Graham turned to George and Vivian, who were sitting together on a settee, and said: "Won't you two please excuse Mr. Nelson and myself? I want to talk a little business to him privately."

Leaving them on the porch, Reginald and Joy Graham sauntered out into a pasture field. "I have come to see you this evening about your future plans," said the girl. "It may seem improper for a young woman in my place to do this, but I am not doing it for your sake, remember. I am thinking of the honor of our family and also of the good of Bronson. We need just such a paper in Bronson as you had made the Courier—a newspaper that has principle and which stands for the welfare of the community at all times. I want you to originate and control just such a newspaper in Bronson. I have even named this new paper. It will be called the Bronson Tribune, and the editor of it will be Reginald Nelson."

The ex-editor looked in astonishment at the girl by his side.

"Tell me what you mean," Reginald responded after a brief pause.

"I have a little fortune which was left to me by my mother's family," Joy Graham continued. "This came into my entire control when I was eighteen, and I want to use a part of it in this enterprise for the good of Bronson. I said I believed in you. Now I will prove it."

The girl stopped and opened a handbag which she carried on her left arm. She took out a small package and handed it to Reginald. "You will find $5,000 in that package," she said. "At the end of a month Mr. Davis Parker, the lawyer, will give you another package of bills of equal amount, and in still another month you will get $5,000 more. I want to invest this to you that you may establish with it a real newspaper which will make effective in our social life the teachings of Mr. Sunday and Dr. Rutledge."

Reginald Nelson was too amazed to speak for a moment, and he stood holding the package which the girl had given him, looking alternately from it to his companion.

"I understand," he answered slowly, "but I could not think of this risking your inheritance."

"It is a matter of business, remember," said the girl, with determination. "The newspaper is to belong to you, then?" After a silence Reginald spoke thus to the girl.

"Yes," she answered, "but my part in the enterprise is, of course, to remain a secret for the present. Mr. Davis Parker will act as my trustee, and you will never need to consult with me directly in regard to anything connected with the Bronson Tribune, as he will be my agent."

Reginald Nelson knew Mr. Davis Parker well. He was one of the rising young lawyers in Bronson, and in company with several other members of the Bronson bar he had "hit the sawdust trail" during the tabernacle meetings.

"I think I understand your proposition, Miss Graham, and I accept it, assuring you that I will guarantee you against any financial loss. I am glad to say that I can make good this guarantee some time."

"No guarantee is necessary," replied the girl stoutly. "I am making a business investment."

"The enterprise will succeed," said Reginald, his enthusiasm beginning to awaken as he saw his life plans open before him.

"When do you think you can bring out the first edition of the Tribune?" asked Joy as they neared the Derwent home.

"I will return to Bronson tomorrow," rejoined Reginald, "and I think I can rent a building, get machinery and workmen together so that I can begin publication within a month or six weeks."

"Where have you two been?" asked the farmer's daughter when they had reached the porch. "If I see any more of this, Joy, I shall be compelled to speak to Roland."

"Don't worry," replied Joy, with a wan little smile. "Mr. Nelson and I have finished all the business discussion we will ever need to have together. I came to announce to him that he is to be the editor of a new paper which will soon be published in Bronson."

On the following day, to the surprise of friends and enemies alike, Reginald Nelson appeared in Bronson and commenced at once his plans for the publication of the Bronson Tribune.

When Mr. Graham and Roland Gregory returned from their trip to the east, where they had engaged a new editor at a high salary, they were astounded to hear of Reginald Nelson's sudden reappearance in Bronson and of his contemplated plans for a rival newspaper.

"It is a bluff!" said Mr. Graham, in astonishment, when he first heard the news. "The fellow will not dare to do that."

If Mr. Graham was astonished when he first heard of Reginald Nelson's purpose to start a rival newspaper, he was dumfounded the next day at something still more amazing to him. Davis Parker, the young lawyer who was the legal adviser of the reform element, called on him and paid in full the amount of the judgment against Reginald for his shares of stock in the Courier Publishing company.

"Do you want to purchase these shares which Mr. Nelson owns?" asked the young lawyer after he had settled the judgment by depositing with Mr. Graham the cash for the full amount.

"At what price will he sell them?" asked Mr. Graham in response.

"He has authorized me to sell them to you at the same price he paid for them. If you do not buy them he will advertise them for sale in his own paper which will be issued in a few weeks."

"The shares are not worth what he paid for them now," responded the lawyer, somewhat off his guard.

"All right," answered Davis Parker; "he will advertise them and get what he can out of them. He does not wish to have any connection henceforth with the Courier."

Before leaving Mr. Graham's office Davis Parker gave the older lawyer a still more severe shock by remarking: "You have been publishing a number of defamatory articles for over a month in regard to Mr. Nelson. I am sure you know you have already laid yourself liable to a suit for libel. However, Mr. Nelson will pay no attention to what has already been printed in your newspaper, but if you mention him again in any such way he has ordered me to begin a suit for damages immediately."

At a conference of Bud McCrea's friends, which was held that evening in the Courier office, the sudden turn of affairs was discussed by the discouraged conspirators.

"I thought we had that—fellow, Nelson, fixed," exclaimed McCrea with an oath.

One of the councilmen of the city was present and he informed them that a reform ticket had already been agreed on by the "Rutledge crowd," as he called the reformers.

"I heard about that," said Roland Gregory. "I understand they have put up Edgar Prince's name for mayor, and George Caldwell, Dr. Gracely and Mr. Cameron have been picked out for councilmen. Think of it!"

Bud McCrea frowned darkly as he heard these names spoken which he well knew boded no good to his empire in Bronson.

"That fellow, Nelson—him, is at the bottom of it all. He is worse than the preachers. Can't we make away with him?"

"You are right, McCrea," chimed in Roland Gregory. "If I got a good chance, I would like to rid our community of that fellow myself."

"Who is this fellow, Nelson?" asked McCrea.

Mr. Graham told the history of Reginald as far as he knew it, speaking of the letter which he had received from London a short time before.

"I am convinced there is something in his record in England, if we can get hold of it, which will enable us to hurl him out of our community," said Mr. Graham earnestly. "Let us keep quiet for a few weeks and I will investigate."

Altogether innocent of the further efforts which were being made to discredit and ruin him, Reginald Nelson was working like a Trojan setting his new publishing plant in order. Fortunately a few days before the visit of Joy Graham to the Derwent farm the foreman of the Courier had resigned, being unable to endure the insolence of Ned Howlands. Reginald Nelson found him packing his household goods and getting ready to leave Bronson for Grand Rapids, where he had been offered a minor position in one of the printing offices. It did not take much persuasion on Reginald's part to convince the ex-foreman of the Courier that it was to his interest to remain in Bronson.

"Where did the fellow get his money?" asked Roland Gregory of his prospective father-in-law one day as the two men were talking in the Graham home.

Joy Graham listened attentively to the conversation of her future husband and her father.

"I am unable to find out who is backing him financially, but I expect it is Edgar Prince. Prince will be supported for mayor by this new sheet."

"I think Bronson is arousing itself to be worthy of its high place in southern Michigan," answered the girl bravely. "The reforms which Edgar Prince and his friends are fighting for mean the redemption of our city from social paganism."

"Hush, daughter," responded Mr. Graham.

"If you want to enter politics, Joy," said Roland laughingly, "you will have an opportunity this fall. Your father is to run for mayor against Edgar Prince."

The news that Mr. Graham of the law firm of Millman & Graham had accepted the nomination for mayor or from the hands of McCrea and his friends brought much joy to Bronson's underworld.

The Edgar Prince faction suffered the disadvantage of being without a newspaper, while the Courier in every possible way hurled abuse and scorn at the "visionaries."

"When can you issue the first number of the Tribune," asked Edgar Prince anxiously.

"I am planning to bring out the first number on Oct. 1," answered Reginald promptly. "That will give us over a month in which to enlighten the people of Bronson in regard to some things which ought to be known, and I have no fears about the result."

"The new editor of the Courier is an able fellow," responded Mr. Prince, "and I can see that he is influencing some of our business men to favor the wide open policy."

"Come into our pressroom and see the new machinery which we are installing," said Reginald, and he ushered Edgar Prince into his plant.

"I have been thinking," said Reginald slowly, "that it would be an advantage if we could erect our own building for the Tribune, and plan to enter it next spring. If we could begin the erection at once it would give the paper a better standing in the community. If I could get some of the business men in Bronson who are interested in our reforms to take stock in the Tribune I believe I could make the newspaper a power not only in Bronson, but all over southern Michigan."

After a further conference the result was that a large Tribune Publishing company was organized.

A week before the publication of the much expected first issue of the Tribune Reginald Nelson distributed circulars over Bronson announcing the advent of the new organ of reform. The circulars were headed, in led type, "The Bronson Tribune, The People's Paper."

This circular described briefly the policies which would be advocated by the Tribune and promised some interesting details in regard to the exposure made in the Independence day edition of the Courier. "The Tribune will be a newspaper without a muzzle," said the circular in conclusion.

CHAPTER XIX.

A Tragedy.

MRS. RUTLEDGE and her husband were interested when the Tribune printed the announcement that "Roland Gregory and Miss Joy Graham are to be married Oct. 20." "Poor Joy!" was their comment. "Maybe she can reform him."

"By the way," said Mrs. Rutledge, "I saw Mrs. Mobery yesterday morning, and she asked me about that ring which she gave me a long time ago."

"What ring?" said Allan Rutledge.

"The ring which Mrs. Mobery found on the finger of Mae after her death. You remember I gave it to you."

"Oh!" exclaimed the minister. "I remember. I had forgotten in some way altogether about it." He took out the gold band which he had laid in the drawer the evening previous to the midnight tour of Bronson.

"I shall attend to this at once," he said, taking the ring and laying it on his desk.

SHAWANO WOMAN VICTIM OF STOMACH

Mrs. Herbert Haire Gains Every Day After Taking Wonderful Remedy.

Mrs. Herbert Haire of Shawano, Wis., was a victim of stomach and digestive ailments. She tried many remedies and sought relief in many ways.

At last she decided to try Mayr's Wonderful Remedy. The swift results astonished her. She wrote:

"I am gaining every day since taking your remedy and tonic. Shall continue to take it until I am sure I am in permanent good health. Enclosed find an order for a dozen and a half bottles for my suffering friends, for I know it will cure them."

Mayr's Wonderful Remedy gives permanent results for stomach, liver and intestinal ailments. Eat as much and whatever you like. No more distress after eating, pressure of gas in the stomach and around the heart. Get one bottle of your druggist now and try it on an absolute guarantee—if not satisfactory money will be refunded.

That morning he sent a letter to a jewelry firm in Chicago, inclosing the ring and asking them to trace, if possible, the buyer.

In two weeks he received a letter, returning the ring and giving as the name of the buyer a prominent citizen in Bronson.

Allan Rutledge read the name and gasped. "Can it be possible?"

And when Reginald Nelson was shown the letter he was amazed as well. The ring found on the dead girl's hand was purchased by Roland Gregory.

The Tribune had inaugurated a series of articles on the industrial conditions in Bronson. One of them showed the deplorable affairs in Gregory's factory.

Roland consulted Mr. Graham, who, however, decided not to bring a libel suit for him.

Roland Gregory had been drinking something that day, and he left the office of Mr. Graham in no pleasant mood. After visiting his club, where he fortified himself with a few more glasses, he wended his way to the Tribune office.

"Good morning, Mr. Gregory," said Reginald. He wondered at the visit, for he was soon to confront Roland with his knowledge of the Mobery girl's ring. The marriage of Roland and Joy now seemed impossible. "I hope you like Bronson's new paper," he added.

"To be—! with your paper?" replied the other fiercely. "What do you mean by sending a spy to my factory to sneak around and find out about my private affairs?"

Dinner Stories

Mrs. Coddling was having some new window fixtures put up in her house one day, and she stood near by watching the workman.

"Don't you think that you have placed those fixtures too high?" she asked.

The workman was a stolid German and, making no reply whatever, continued to adjust the fixtures.

"Didn't you hear my question?" demanded Mrs. Coddling. "How dare you be so rude?"

The German gulped convulsively, and then, in the most gentle of voices replied:

"I haf my mouth full of screws, and I could not speak till I swallow some!"

The guide suddenly halted the party of Americans.

"Ah, there comes the heir to the throne," he said, removing his hat as a royal equipage appeared.

The little boy of the party nudged his mother and whispered:

"He haf take his hat off for fear the air would blow it off."

The teacher was drilling the class in mental arithmetic.

"Now, boys," he said, "here is an easy one. A man desiring to go into business borrows a million dollars at 15 per cent for four years. What's the result?"

"Fifteen hands shot up and fifteen voices shouted in chorus:

"The man goes broke."

"So the lady doctor jilted Bob?"

"Yes. He called her a dear little duck, and she thought he meant to insinuate that she was a quack."

Writer's Style.

Style! Style! Why, all writers will tell you that it is the very thing which can least of all be changed. A man's style is nearly as much a part of him as any part of his being which is at least subjected to the action of his will.—Fenelon.

GLASS OF SALTS IF YOUR KIDNEYS HURT

Eat Less Meat if you Feel Backache or Have Bladder Trouble.

Meat forms uric acid which excites and overloads the kidneys in their efforts to filter it from the system. Regular eaters of meat must flush the kidneys occasionally. You must relieve them like you relieve your bowels; removing all the acids, waste and poison, else you feel a dull misery in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back or sick headache, dizziness, sour stomach, sour tongue, coated and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment; the channels often get irritated, obliging you to get up two or three times during the night.

To neutralize these irritating acids and flush out the body's urinous waste get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine and bladder disorders disappear. This famous salt is made from acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys and stop bladder irritation. Jad Salts is inexpensive; harmless and makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which millions of men and women take now and then, thus avoiding serious kidney and bladder diseases.

M'CARTHY DEFENDS REFERENCE LIBRARY

Replies to a Cross Fire of Questions Directed at Him in Hearing Before Senate Committee.

Madison, Wis., April 30.—Dr. Charles McCarthy, head of the legislative reference department, appeared before the senate committee on education and public welfare yesterday afternoon in opposition to the Perry bill to abolish the legislative reference bureau and transfer its duties to the state law library. The Perry bill carries an appropriation of $3,500 as compared with an appropriation of $21,000 required by the legislative department of years when the legislature is in session. With the exception of Pennsylvania, Wisconsin spends more money for a legislative reference bureau than any other state, said Senator Perry. For over an hour Dr. McCarthy was subjected to a cross fire of questions by Senator Ackley. He was apparently able to answer all of the objections raised against him. Dr. McCarthy said that he had never asked a member to introduce a bill, that he had never left matter out of a bill, which a member had put in, and that he had never attempted to argue a member out of introducing a bill. He didn't try two years ago to argue me out of introducing a bill relating to the number of aldermen a city should have?" asked Senator Ackley. "I did not," came back the sharp reply from McCarthy. Ackley still insisted and Dr. McCarthy then said that the question was one of veracity between the senator and himself. In answer to questions Dr. McCarthy said that no member of his staff had ever appeared before legislatures in favor or against bills. Did not Patrick appear before the legislature to support the education bills two years ago," injected Senator Ackley. Mr. Fitzpatrick has never been connected with my department and has never drawn one cent from the pay roll of my department," replied Dr. McCarthy. T. C. Richmond of Madison appeared in favor of the Perry bill. He said he believed the people of the state wanted the department abolished. There were sallies of wit and satire between the speakers that at times convulsed the audience that came to the hearing.

HAVE A NEW MEANS OF PRODUCING YEAST.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Berlin, April 30.—The institute of the Fermentation Industries announces the discovery of a method for producing by mixing sulphate of ammonia with sugar and causing a strong current of air to play upon it. During the fermentation process nitrogen is assimilated from the air and a product rich in albumen is yielded. The invention promises to have an important effect in solving the problem of food supply. Before the war Germany imported very large quantities of the more costly Indian corn, and oil-cake of various kinds. So large was the import of such product that more than half of the milk supply of the country was produced from them.

Orfordville News

Orfordville, April 29.—James Ennis is nursing a sore eye and is under the care of a physician. H. K. Hendrickson has sold his residence in the west part of the village to Wesley Jones. It is understood that Mr. Hendrickson and his family will move into the rooms over the Journal office. W. Harper of Janesville and the state manager of the Woodmen of the World were in the village on Thursday, looking after the interests of the order. The little Fairhurst child was buried in the local cemetery Thursday afternoon. The funeral was private owing to the fact that the mother is quarantined in the home, having had a mild case of diphtheria. H. C. Taylor has disposed of his farm of two hundred and fifty acres, the sale having been made on Wednesday. The purchase price was one hundred and fifteen dollars per acre, and the buyer is a party from Burlington. Possession will not be given until fall. The regular meeting of the Woman's Missionary society of the Lutheran church was held at the church parlors on Thursday afternoon, Mrs. I. H. Suter and Mrs. C. O. Ness were hostesses. Mrs. Sam Onsard is enjoying a visit from her sister, Mrs. Peterson, of Janesville. AVALON Avalon, April 29.—Mr. and Mrs. Allen Rokenbrodt entertained Mrs. Rokenbrodt's brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Holstein, of Ft. Atkinson, for dinner Sunday. A good crowd attended the L. A. meeting at Mrs. William Reed's last Thursday. The next meeting will be at Mrs. William Ward's, Thursday, May 6th. The teachers and pupils enjoyed a hayrack ride last Thursday given by E. H. Ransom. He took them to a nearby field to see stumps blasted out by the use of dynamite. It was an interesting sight, but few of them had ever witnessed the sight before.

Remember the dance at the hall May 5th. Mrs. C. E. Smith of Beloit visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Boynton, a few days last week. Mr. and Mrs. Smith have just returned from a trip to the Pacific coast, being absent about six weeks. Miss Mary Cooper was the guest of her friend, Louise Tuckwood, in Janesville, Saturday and Sunday. Ethel and Beulah Ransom, Beth and Esther Nurse of Janesville visited at the A. G. Ransom home Saturday. John Waugh attended the assessor's meeting in Janesville on Tuesday. There will be services at the Emerald Grove church Sunday. A candidate will occupy the pulpit.

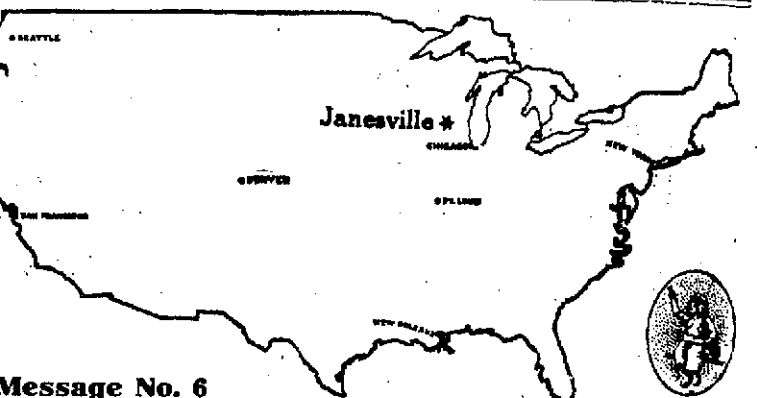

CENTIMETER SHELL OPENS GRAVE AND SCATTERS SKELETON.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] General Headquarters, British Army, France, April 30.—One of the huge German 42-centimeter shells opened a grave in the little cemetery in the village of Richebourg St. Vaast recently and, exploding, lifted a coffin and the skeleton therein fifty feet in the air where bones and splintered wood caught and hung on the side of the church tower. Wind and rain have come, but part of the skeleton still depends from the tower, rattling and swaying in the breeze. A correspondent of The Associated Press, motoring along the British lines, saw the strange sight, perhaps the oddest freak of shell fire of the war. Parts of the skeleton, whose identity was not known, were scattered about the church yard below, but enough of the bones remained in midair to be identified as those of a human being.

NOT MUCH LOSS AT PANAMA CANAL DESPITE THE CONFLICT.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Panama, April 30.—The first eight months of operation of the Panama Canal have not yielded a profit to the government notwithstanding that traffic has been better than had been expected in view of the European War. From July 1, 1914 and ending March 1, 1915 the canal showed a loss of $261,098, the deficit, being mainly chargeable to the high cost of operation and maintenance. During the period mentioned the canal earned $2,384,516 in tolls, while the charge for operation and maintenance was $2,595,613, the government thus losing approximately 10 per cent. Under operation and maintenance are included all the diversified expenditures necessary for keeping the canal open to traffic and a prorated part of the expenses on civil government, sanitation and general administration. More than a third of the total overhead expense of the canal is charged to operation and maintenance.

HISTORIC YAKIMA CITY DISPLACED FROM MAP. [SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] North Yakima, Wash., April 30.—With the closing of the postoffice at Yakima City, four miles south of here, today, a town dear to the hearts of the early pioneers practically lost its separate identity. Yakima City was established more than a half century ago. Previous attempts to close the office were thwarted by the old settlers. However, the postal receipts dwindled so greatly that the government, throwing sentiment to the winds, ordered the office closed. The decadence of Yakima City began with the building of the Northern Pacific railroad and the establishment of North Yakima. PERIODICAL IS FINED FOR A LIBEL ARTICLE. [SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] Leipzig, April 30.—Theodore Fritzsche, publisher of The Hammer, an anti-Semite periodical which has recently suppressed by the military authorities, has been fined 1,200 marks for libel of the Jewish inhabitants of Mulhausen, Alsace. Fritzsche asserted, in an article headed "Hebraic Friends of the French," that the Jews of that city hung out French flags when the French marched in, that the daughters of prominent Jewish families had danced in the streets with French officers, and that the champagne had flowed to streams. A rabbi and eight prominent Jews of Mulhausen caused the action to be brought against Fritzsche.

How to Help Backsliders

By REV. HOWARD W. POPE
Superintendent of Men, Moody Bible Institute
Chicago

TEXT—I will heal their backsliding. I will love them freely.—Hosea 14:4.

Backsliders may be divided into three classes.

1. Those who have never been converted, but who have once considered themselves Christians. The churches are full of people who at some time received a religious impulse, and who perhaps expressed their purpose to lead a Christian life, but who never really received Christ.

Such people must be shown in a kind and loving way that they have been mistaken or that they will never be willing to make another trial. It is well to point out some of the evidences of the new birth, and let them see that they have never experienced it.

Romans 8:1 shows that the Christian is delivered from the guilt of sin. Ask them if they have ever been wholly free from a sense of guilt, and for what reason. I John 3:14 proves that we have passed from death unto life because we love the brethren. I John 3:21, 22 shows that an obedient Christian will have answers to prayer. I John 4:13 insures the fellowship of the Holy Spirit. Test a person with such passages and he will soon recognize his true position.

At the close of a service I was introduced to a young man who said to me, "I have tried this thing two or three times, and it did not seem to work, and I do not care to try it again." He spoke of conversion as if it were something like vaccination which did not "take" in his case.

"Were you ever really converted?" "I do not know."

"Did you ever get a new heart?" "I doubt if I did."

"You have been trying to live the Christian life without any Christ to help you, haven't you?"

"That just describes it."

"It is no wonder you have had a hard time. It is like trying to run a watch without a mainspring. You might shake it and the wheels would run a minute or two, but it would soon stop. Neither is it possible to lead a Christian life without the help of Christ who is the mainspring of it all."

"If you had in your heart to help you, the very Christ who gave the commandments, would you not be able to keep them?"

"I think I would."

"Listen then," I said, and I quoted Ezekiel 36:26, "A new heart will I give you, and a new spirit will I put within you; and I will take away the stony heart out of your flesh, and I will put you an heart of flesh. And I will put my spirit within you, and cause you to walk in my statutes, and ye shall keep my judgments and do them."

"This is God's offer to you—a new heart. Will you accept it?" In a moment or two he was on his knees asking God for a new heart.

II. The second class consists of those who have drifted away from God by disobedience, and are not anxious to return. They are like the prodigal before his money was spent. They are living a worldly life, and so long as health and prosperity continue, they get along fairly well without God, though they have many rebukes of conscience, and frequent longings for the good old days of fellowship with God.

With such people Jeremiah 2:5 is a good verse. Ask them what fault they could find with God that they have wandered from him. Jeremiah 2:13 is also good. Ask them if it is not true that their present life is evil and bitter as compared with the fellowship and joy which God provides for those who obey him. Show them the ingratitude and sin of such a course. Quote Jeremiah 2:19 and show them the folly of turning from a fountain of pure water to a broken cistern or a muddy pool. Then ask him if the self life is not a broken cistern as compared with that well of water which Christ opens in every heart that receives him.

III. Backsliders who are tired of sin and are anxious to return to God. They are like the prodigal after his money is spent, and after months of hunger and loneliness in the far country. For such Hosea 14:4 is a good passage. "O Israel, return unto the Lord thy God; for thou hast fallen by thine iniquity. I will heal their backsliding, I will love them freely; for mine anger is turned away from him."

The most effective passage, however, is Luke 15:11-24. This not only pictures the wretched condition of the backslider, but it shows the steps by which he must return, and the royal reception which awaits him. No one needs pity more than the backslider. He is despised by the world, he is a reproach to the church, he is alienated from God, and he condemns himself.

Saul Tries to Kill David.

It was soon evident that David's story was not a sporadic incident. It was the fruit of a valorous life, and there was more fruit to follow. In the quaint phrase of a narrative, he behaved himself wisely. It was so prudent that he disarmed even the courtiers who would naturally have been jealous. They might have disdained the intrusion of a shepherd boy in court. They would have thought him a slightest pretext had been given. Success had evidently not made David conceited, the especial bane of military men. But the murderous envy of Saul is the key agent on which the character of David stands out in clear-cut outline. The cause of Saul's jealousy seemed to be the occasion in which in Oriental style the women took conspicuous part. The slur of their exclusion made this exceptional appearance the more effective. They chanted some favorite folk-song and added a refrain of "Saul had slain his thousands and David his myriads." It was an outburst of patriotic joy. The song was antiphonal, one chorus responding to another with the accompaniment of some rude instrument called "lute." The "lute" describing, perhaps the triangle or an instrument of three strings, the beautiful singers accentuated their songs with rhythmic movement of the body. The refrain was so constantly repeated that it became the unstinting expression of the whole story. In it the mood of praise was distinctly given to the Bethlehemite stripling. Comparisons on such an occasion are especially odious. It is quaintly said that lavish commendations of those whom we admire in such a world as this often prove a real injury. So the daughters and matrons of Israel did David an unconscious disservice. The self-centered king could not brook the supposed indignity. This account is drawn to the line psychologically. Saul harbored a mean passion. It confused his moral sense. He became his own slave. He had heard Samuel's intimation that a neighbor better than himself should take his crown. He was on the watch for that rival and recognized him in David. He saw in this incident the unfolding of a divine purpose to supplant him, and determined rashly and impulsively to nip that purpose in the bud. So he tried to break the end after another to secure his wicked end. Twice he hurled his javelin at his young armor-bearer, aiming to pinion him to the wall. But David evaded himself of that extortive he had learned in meeting other wild beasts. Next, Saul required dangerous exploits at David's hands, anticipating that in some of them he would be slain, but David seemed invulnerable, covered with the impenetrable shield of Providence. The new positions which the king gave him with such strict motives put him in touch with the populace, as one attached to an Oriental court could never be. So that Saul soon found he had only given new opportunities to his rival. Saul next sought to achieve in the bud what he had failed to accomplish after. He would fain use his own daughter as bait to catch David with. Paternal feeling was so expelled by another passion that he regarded her feelings no more than the fisherman does the angle worm. Before he was through with it he had sacrificed the happiness of two daughters, reviled his own wife, and sought the life of a son as well as a son-in-law. With every failing except his jealousy deepened. While he lapsed, the stunner purpose to thwart the Divine will in the elevation of David to the throne changed not, except in the degree of its intensity. History, profane nor sacred, contains a more awful instance of a man's inordinate assertion of human selfishness against a declared purpose of the Almighty. Thus, as ever, the hammer broke, the anvil remained.

The Teacher's Lesson. This incident affords a fine study in psychology. A comparison and contrast of the leading characters, Saul and David, will well illustrate the rise, progress, and end of opposite human traits. Browning's "Saul" is distinctively a psychological poem. The circumstance also opens the field of ethics. It shows in what ideal moral number does life does not consist. Two intelligent and free beings, each with a conscience, pass and repass before us in the spirit of narrative. One is the most ardent student of history; the other rises to the consideration of the supreme good as the ultimate ground of obligation. David suffered the pains of popularity. Among them is the quickening of envy in the small souls which, so far from joying in the success of others, cannot brook it. Success did not make David conceited. Nothing so quickly blocks the way to further achievement as conceit. Current history affords illustrations.

The slaying of ten thousand, taken as a gauge of a great achievement, reveals that the price David was still a cruel one. By their own age all the characters in this incident are to be measured. Some were larger and some smaller than their age. Praise has its utility, but also has its limits. It is a high art to know whom, how, when, and where to commend.

David learned how to get honey out of the enter. Saul's jealousy was a school for him. He acquired there the patience and caution which were most serviceable to him in his checkered career.

Jealousy was the fool's gold—the iron pyrites hidden in Saul which turned all his fair exterior to corroding blackness. The javelin was the Oriental scepter. When Saul hurled it at David he was unconsciously but certainly throwing away his kingdom. He was parting, too, with the scepter of self-command.

Contentment is the philosopher's stone. It turns what it touches to gold. Saul never found the stone. Anybody who makes a real quest. The reason John Baptist is greatest of prophets is that he learned to prefer another's promotion, when the supreme good of the largest number was gained thereby. Saul never learned that.

Analysis and Key. Killing Goliath not Sporadic Deed. Natural Fruit of a Heroic Life. Other Fruit Follow. David's Modesty Disarms Envy. In General: Not Saul's in Particular. Unlabeled Praise. "Saul Thousands: David Myriads!" Odious Comparison. David Recognized as Supplanter. Destruction Sought. Devices Fail. A Chained Life. The Young People's Devotional Service.

The early Christian in protest to current luxury and self-indulgence went to the extreme of denial, even of bodily comforts. Taking this exceptional condition as the ruling, one is led to the inference that the Christian life is of necessity joyless. Nothing could be more erroneous or unfair to religion. By every token of the religion of Jesus is the very opposite. One word may express its dominant characteristic—Joyous. The Christian is one who "rejoices with the Lord." He has a "sprightly hope." He "greatly rejoices." His joy is secure. God keeps it. One of its chief elements is the love of the "Unseen." Friend, O no! The ideal Christian is not a repellent tombstone. He is a minister tower from which joybells peal as on a Christmas eve!

AT MYERS THEATRE.

"My last boss was a grand man, but his wife took an awful grouch on me—she had a fire." Wonder if that is a familiar line to any stenographer in this city? At any rate it is a line taken from Jack Laith's play, "Help Wanted," which set all New York and Chicago in a whirl owing to the remarkable everyday business office story it developed. Containing as it does the true situation some stenographers have to face during their working hours, "Help Wanted" ran up a series of records in New York and Chicago that surpassed "Within the Law" and other successful plays. For 35 weeks this play remained at the Cort Theatre and was still doing phenomenal business on July 4th when it was forced to leave through another show having a contract for the same theatre. The author, Jack Laith, located the action of the piece in a stenographer's office, but his indictment of an unscrupulous type of employer is based upon investigations which the author made while he was engaged in newspaper work in Chicago. The author has hit upon a subject of universal appeal and the interest in the piece is the best warrant of its extensiveness. It will be seen at the Myers Theatre on Thursday, May 4.

Beginning tomorrow, forty-four counties in the state will be "dry" territory, while in only thirty-nine will the saloons continue to have a legal existence.

The election placed more than half the area of the state in "dry" territory, but nearly a million more persons will reside in the "wet" counties than in those that are "dry."

HABIT OF DROPPING THE CUD

One of Symptoms of Certain Subacute Forms of Indigestion—Carefully Examine Teeth.

(By W. R. GILBERT.)
"Dropping the cud" takes place in certain diseases and conditions of the mouth, where mastication is painful, but it is also one of the symptoms of certain subacute forms of indigestion dependent on bulky and unwholesome food.

In some cases the animal is unthrifty, with irregular bowels and decreased appetite; but these are not so pronounced when the trouble is due to pain in mastication owing to disease of the tongue or mouth, or to dental irregularities.

In young bovines, "dropping the cud" is very often due to the persistence of the crowns of deciduous molars.

The animal eats tolerably well, because the food, in the first place, is masticated by the incisors, twisted around by the tongue and hastily transferred to the first stomach.

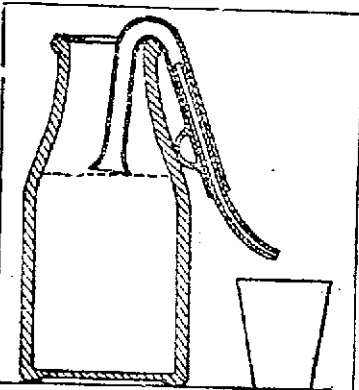

It is after chewing the cud that the food is subjected to the reduction to minute particles by the molars, the process causing pain, and the ball of food or cud is dropped out of the mouth instead of being laboriously masticated and swallowed.

This first thing to do in these cases is to carefully examine the mouth with the aid of a gag and to remove the persisting molar crowns if it is these temporary teeth causing the painful mastication.

ROBBING THE MILK BOTTLE

Siphon Invented for Removing Cream When Desired—Does Its Work Without Any Loss.

The sight of a quantity of rich cream on top of the milk bottle is a sight which few housewives can resist, and they are tempted to remove it and make use of it for one purpose or another. It is almost impossible to pour the cream off, and usually any effort made to insert a spoon or other implement of this character has the effect of stirring up the cream of cream so that it is lost. The device shown herewith has been recently patented and will drain off all the cream of the bottle without any loss by agitation of the contents of the bottle during the operation, as with a spoon or pouring. The siphon is of glass principally, but the lower end is a tube of rubber with one end thrust up into the glass. The bell-shaped end of glass is lowered carefully into the cream, and when in place will about reach the lower part of the stratum of cream. The rubber tube is then closed by pinching and drawn slowly from the glass tube. This draws the cream up and starts the flow, which continues until all the cream has been drawn off.

FIND POOR MILK PRODUCERS

Many Fine Appearing Animals Found to Be Quite Unprofitable by Work of Testing.

The work of testing the dairy herd is most interesting and produces many surprises. Many of the finest appearing cattle will be found to be the poorest producers, while some of the animals thought to be scrubs will be worthy of a place in the constructed herd.

No time should be lost in disposing of the unproductive cows. A market can readily be had for those in good condition, while the money received for their sale can be most wisely expended by purchasing a sire and two or more dams of a dairy breed. These new animals should not be purchased without first knowing their record of production.

Dairy Profit and Loss.

People are not careful enough about feeding their stock. They take it for granted that when they have thrown an allowance of grain in front of the cows their duties are finished. On the other hand, the cow that is rightly fed is carefully studied with each ration. She is watched to see if she will respond to a little more feed or if she is getting more than she can use. These little wastes are what make the profit and loss in dairying.

Number of Cows to Keep.

A farmer and dairyman should keep only as many cows as he can house and feed properly.

Term Originated by Fox.

The word "Radical," as applied to a British political party, originated in a speech made by Charles J. Fox, in 1797, when he referred to the necessity for "radical reform."

LOST TO FAMILY 14 YEARS

Man Returns to Parent's Home With a Mexican Wife and Four Children.

Billings, Mont.—After an absence of 14 years, during which time he was mourned as dead by his parents, William Kinnick has returned to their home in Park City, bringing with him a Mexican wife and four children, who cannot speak a word of English. At the time young Kinnick disappeared the family resided in Billings and he was the husband of an invalid wife. Worry over her condition is supposed to have caused a temporary aberration and he wandered away one night after coming downtown to fill an engagement. Shortly thereafter the invalid died and some years later a headless body found in Wyoming was identified by the elder Kinnick as that of their son and was buried by them.

According to young Kinnick, he came to a realization of his surroundings in Mexico, where, during the Madero revolt, he acquired land and cattle, all of which were lost in subsequent revolutions.

FOUND SNAKE CAVE ON FARM

Called Out the Neighbors, Who Helped Him Kill 125 Fighting Blue Racers.

Findlay, O.—James Bookwalter while plowing on his farm in Amanda township saw a snake crawl into a small opening in the ground. He investigated, picked up a shovel, and with a little digging discovered a small cave occupied by scores of snakes. Mr. Bookwalter called for help, and when a small army of men were through with the slaughter 125 had been killed.

All were of the blue racer variety. Several of the larger ones showed fight, but they were killed without much trouble.

Dug His Own Grave.
South Norwalk, Conn.—Having a premonition of death, Dwight E. Hewitt, an eccentric farmer, dug his own grave a month ago. It was eight inches short, however, and his burial was delayed two hours, while grave diggers enlarged the grave.

Stung by Mosquitoes While Coasting.
Bayonne, N. J.—Boys and girls coasting near the Morris canal were stung by mosquitoes.

Who Can Flee Self?
Who is the man that by fleeing from his country can also flee from himself?—Horace.

Now is the Time to Make Those Improvements--Clean Up and Paint Up

The spring is upon us and this is time for cleaning up and painting up. Those who have contemplated improvements to their homes or property in any part of the city or country and who were deterred by the bad winter weather, could not do a better thing than get ready for the clean-up and paint-up campaign.

Immediate action toward the doing of inside work, such as cleaning, repairing, making alterations, screening, etc., is in order now, or will be on Monday and Tuesday, May 3d and 4th.

There's a fine, healthy sound to this slogan, "Clean-up and Paint-up" which has been adopted by the Commercial Club and the Women's clubs of the city in endeavoring to make Janesville a better place in which to live.

This new proposition stands for many things that are good. They claim the attention of every well-meaning citizen. Read this list of achievements to which this proposition is dedicated:

Exterminate the mosquito.
Swat the fly.
Clean streets and alleys.
Clean basements and cellars.
Eliminate weeds.
Make yards beautiful.
Paint houses, garages, barns, up" campaign.

fences, buildings.
Put up screens.

This is a matter for your attention Mr. Householder and Mrs. Householder. It isn't just a thing to be left to the Commercial Club and the Women's Clubs. These two organizations were the starters, but it's up to every organization and to every individual to get behind and push.

How fine this city might be. It wouldn't take a great deal of effort if everyone joined in.

Let every man and woman get busy in this "Clean-up and Paint-
